PROGRAMME

Symposium 1 Tuesday 4th May, 7.30pm

WHAT DID THE CLUNIACS EVER DO FOR US?

Sy Morse-Brown, Chairman of Lewes Priory Trust

A BRIEF SYNOPSIS OF THE TRUST'S ORIGIN AND ORGANISATION

Sy Morse-Brown

THE PRIORY – A SUMMARY

The magnificence that was; what remains; what it might be in the future.

Dr Graham Mayhew FRHistS, Retired lecturer and author of The Monks of Saint Pancras (2014)

THE PRIORY OF SAINT PANCRAS AND CLUNIAC MONASTICISM IN ENGLAND –
THE PATHWAY TO HEAVEN

Lewes Priory made a major mark on England, especially in Yorkshire and Norfolk, and on its doorstep in Sussex. Just what was so special about Cluniac monasticism?

Tony Freeman, Lewes Priory Trustee

LEWES PRIORY'S INTERNATIONAL DIMENSION

Cluny was a great monastic network across Western Europe, in existence for 150 years before it reached Britain. A renowned focus of spirituality, the Cluniac order attracted the greatest scholars and administrators and put Lewes firmly on the European map.

Questions and discussion

Symposium 2 Friday 7th May, 7.30pm

THE DESTRUCTION AND REDISCOVERY OF THE PRIORY

Chris McGovern, Educational Contrarian

GIOVANNI PORTINARI: THOMAS CROMWELL'S ENGINEER WHO BLEW UP THE PRIORY

The monasterial Guido Fawkes - what he did to Lewes Priory, and who he was.

Chris Grove, Lewes Priory Trustee

THE INVASION OF THE RAILWAY AND REDISCOVERY OF THE PRIORY

The construction of the railway in 1844-6, and how the excavations at the end of the nineteenth century have left what we see today.

Arthur Franklin, Lewes Priory Trustee and member of the Research Group

THE PRIORY ALL AROUND US

Plundered and recycled since 1537, the remains of the Priory can be discovered in and around the town of Lewes.

Marcus Taylor, Custodian of the Gundrada Chapel

WILLIAM AND GUNDRADA DE WARENNE

A partnership of power and piety that produced Lewes Priory.

Questions and discussion

Symposium 3 Tuesday 11th May, 7.30pm
CARING FOR A HERITAGE SITE INTO THE FUTURE

Steve Brigden, Town Clerk

LOOKING AFTER A SCHEDULED ANCIENT MONUMENT IN A PUBLIC PARK

Lewes Town Council – the latest of the many dynasties of Priory owners and benefactors – provides core funding and support for maintenance of the Priory remains and park.

Richard Andrews, Architect to the Trust

THE PRIORY REMAINS – WHAT SHOULD WE BE TRYING TO PRESERVE?

Care of the Priory started under Walter Godfrey in 1949 and was continued by his son Emil Godfrey who involved Richard in 1975. He has remained in post ever since.

David Smith, The Flintman Company

A FLINT KNAPPER'S VIEW OF THE PRIORY

An insight into building and conservation of stone, flint and chalk.

Sy Morse-Brown, Chairman

THE PRIORY EARNING ITS KEEP

The Trust's community engagement and education programmes

Questions and discussion

Symposium 4 Friday 14th May, 7.30pm
WHAT THE LATEST RESEARCH IS TELLING US

Paul R. Benjamin, University Professor and Lewes Priory Trustee

THE LAVATORIUM COMPLEX AND ITS UNIQUE MEDIEVAL TUNNEL

Photographs, 3D laser images and computer reconstructions demonstrate how the water supply to the lavatorium cistern and basin and its tunnel drainage system were organized in the 12th/13th century for the monks of St Pancras to take part in a religious ceremony before meals – the washing of hands and faces.

Tom Sholl, Retired family dentist and active historian

MEET A MONK

How recognisable facial features, in effigy, are created.

Arthur Franklin, Lewes Priory Trustee and member of the Research Group

WHAT ST JOHN HOPE DID NOT TELL US ABOUT THE INFIRMARY

Despite the extensive 1901-2 excavations by St John Hope there is still much more to discover. Proposals for a programme of new investigations have received a positive response from Historic England.

Colin Brent, Member of the Priory Research Group

THE FATE OF THE FIRST CHURCH: INFIRMARY CHAPEL, OR THOMAS BECKET'S CHAPEL?

A re-statement of the evidence of 1375 for a Lady Chapel in the Great Church and for a Chapel of Saint Thomas Becket in its precinct – the latter perhaps in the still intact first monastic church.

Concluding questions and discussion

Saturday 15th May, 2.30pm,
Gathering at Mountfield Road car park
